Title: Amazing Fast Delivery

Comments: The tunic fits perfectly - no alterations needed. This is my second tunic from WPG and it is spot on!! I noted just a hint more green in the fabric - which makes it look like an original. I am genuinely happy with the tunic. All of the clothing I have purchased through WPG has exhibited excellent quality

Title: Good reproduction

Comments: This is a vast improvement over Jerry's prior runs of WWII US Army Officer Blouses. The material is probably the best available on the market for a WWII Army Officer uniform. The attention to detail like the inside breast pocket is very nice. The buttons are clearly cast copies, but I intend to trade them out for originals anyway. No big deal here but they still look ok. Just order one size down from your normal chest size and you'll be happy with the fit. Another good offering from WPG. Thank you Jerry!

Title: Jacket no buttons

Comments: Normally WPG clothing runs 1-2 sizes small. Since I needed the largest size of this jacket I was worried. I had only purchased commonwealth uniforms previously and they were not quality or sized correctly. This jacket is correct but came with no buttons nor were the button holes cut out. My previous order (Patton boots) were so poorly made the straps broke on the first wear. "Get them fixed and send me the bill." Was the only option but the repair making the boots useful was estimated at $400 (same price as boots with shipping) plus because of f having to refinish the boots to match the replacement straps and buckles.

Title: Great Item

Comments: As always, very pleased with WPG items over the many years. The tunic is great, and I'm glad the epaulets were sewn down as they were designed for pin-back rank, not the modern clutch-back rank. Maybe a note to this effect in the product description would help. Also glad the buttons were sewn on. Was surprised the shipping bag made it intact as it was pretty thin

Title: Perfect!

Comments: I must say that I am over the moon with this Service coat! As it says in the disclaimer it doesn't come 100% finished but that isn't a problem as it does help in case of tailoring. I ordered a first time a 46 as I wasn't sure what the sizing would give and unfortunately it was a bit too big for me (im a 44-46) I sent it back and asked for a 42 and it fitted perfectly! I just need to dry clean and iron it before adding insignia. Thanks again for your excellent service WPG!

Title: Pleased

Comments: The material is a little on the thick side even after several cycles though the steam press. The color on these is more of a dark green similar to a US Forrest Service jacket green. These run pretty big, i am a 42R chest and had to order a size 40R. After taking out a total of 2" in the chest and about 3" in the waist i was able to get it fitting properly. Hope the next run will be a little thinner material.

Title: Officers 4 pocket Class A Tunic
Comments: I recently ordered the Officer's Class A "Pinks and Greens Coat and Trousers. This review will be for the Coat only. The package arrived separately from the trousers as it shipped from a different source. Shipping was fast as usual. The Coat is fairly well matched to the size 44 that I ordered. It should be said that these jackets are shipped unfinished which is a great help when having them tailored to fit. The sleeves and lower hem of the jacket body are basically tacked in place loosely to facilitate fitting. The shade looks correct when compared to original jackets, as is the structure of the coat itself. The sleeve "Officer's Stripe" is included separately. The buttons on my example were already sewn onto the jacket. Brass buttons for the pockets and the three large buttons down the front with a bakelite button where the belt line lays. The belt is tacked in place in two places around the back and there are no belt loops or places for belt hooks. I am completely satisfied with the coat even before tailoring. If there is enough material after alterations, I'm going to have belt loops made so the belt can slip back and forth to line up the "gig line". Great job WPG!

Product Reviews

Comments: The material is a great color and a nice sturdy weight. Construction is well done. The cut of the garment seems to be wider in the shoulders and fit through the torso, so no need to buy a larger size if you have wide shoulder issues. Very pleased with the fit on our gentleman.

Title: Officer Tunic, Dark Shade

Comments: Very nicely done. This is my second tunic, plus two officer IKE jackets. Size 42 is the perfect fit for the tunic, with size 44 the perfect fit for the IKEs. Now, off to the base tailor shop to sew on the 8th AF patch, the officer sleeve bands, and then dry clean and press.

Product Reviews

Comments: The fabric is perfect. The fast delivery, as usual, was astonishing. It seems to me that the cuff braid is a bit dark but other than that, the usual tailoring is required (just like WWII) the jacket is great...also matches the garrison cap perfectly that I purchased from WPG last year.

Title: U.S. Army Officer Class A Tunic OD-Winter

Comments: This is my second OD Class A Officer tunic in Size 44R. Very good reproduction and good material. I should have ordered size 42R, as I must have some tailoring done here on the base in Korea. That's OK. The first tunic turned out perfectly. Jerry--congratulations on reproducing these hard to find items. I have two WPG Officer Ike Jackets in size 44R, one Officer B-13 jacket in size 44R and one Enlisted Ike Jacket in size 44R. These are beautifully done and fit perfectly. For perspective, if you fit well in these jackets in these sizes, you may wish to order Size 42R for the Class A tunic. BTW, as I am at an APO AP address, this order had to go through Jerry's shop first in Salinas, CA then to me. Still, very timely.

Title: US Officers coat

Comments: Arrived from around the world ok. a few tips on this coat. the epaulets were sewn down on the outside half. this is where the rank is pinned on. I had to rip the stitches open to put rank on the coat. Inside lining was ripped at a seam. material was a little heavy for this uniform but it will work after alterations.

Comments: Strange tailoring. Will require attention by my tailor but since I'm 6'6" and 230lbs., this is the only source I have. (I've tried another source [Warhorse] in UK and found him to be not only unreliable but downright unethical.) At least WPG delivers what they promise in a timely manner.

Title: Not Bad

Comments: The order shipped on a Thursday and was delivered on the following Monday - superb job :) The material is good, though my size 44R was big on my frame and will require some tailoring (this is not an "outta the box" and wear item). Perhaps it wouldn't be a bad idea to order one size smaller than usual for a better fit. Also, the braid was missing for the cuff - I will contact Jerry for a replacement.

Title: 4 pocket tunic.

Comments: I am a 42, but due to others saying this item runs large, I ordered the size 40. The actual measurements quoted for the size 42 seemed VERY large, and even the size 40 I ordered needs taking in, albeit only slightly. The tailors I am using in Norwich actually worked on original garments belonging to the guys in the 8th Airforce. The 80 year old seamstress who is now retired, but had popped in for a visit felt sure they still had some 8th air force arm patches on the premises, somewhere! All [3] remarked on the nice quality of this garment. The sleeves only needed taking up by a few millimeters, but there was some damage in transit which they will try and repair [the fit was so nice I didn't want to return it]. Other than that small disappointment I'm really happy with the item and rapid [as ever] delivery. The buttons were attached, and the button holes were in place [various other posts confused me on this issue]. The sleeves are very loosely tacked for alteration. Shame about the flimsy packaging, and the fact the tunic will need pressing, but I guess that's down to logistics.

Title: Great Service Coat

Product Reviews

Comments: These WPG service coats are the best available today. The ones I've ordered both compare favorably with my friend's original WWII vintage officer's service coats. The wool elastique is faithfully reproduced, and the cut is accurate. That being said, these coats require tailoring - just like the originals! WWII officer's jackets were tailored, unlike the Sad Sack issue garments which were mass produced in "standard" sizes. I had my officer's chocolate service coats fitted by a local tailor. I also had the tailor add "theater made" bullion insignia and WWII vintage "36 line" officer's buttons, and these jackets could pass for originals! So, if you order one, please plan to have it fitted. This is not a defect with the design, it's simply how it was done. Thanks again Jerry for another great product. Keep up the good work. I love your stuff!

Product Reviews

Comments: I ordered the four-pocket service coat and am VERY pleased with it. As I did when active air Force, I bought the coat a size larger than I wear to allow for tailoring. The sleeves didn't need much take-up, but the body did require some taking in. No problem, that just makes it look better. The only downside was that the belt ran from left to right, rather than the proper right to left. Also not a major issue, as a good tailor can reverse that. Delivery was WPG's usual faster-than-light (I ordered on a Saturday and had it on Tuesday), and was very impressed with the coat right out of the package. This four-pocket will have the proper VIII Bomber Command insignia placed on it, as well as Hershey Bars to represent eighteen months overseas service. The military tailor I took it to was very pleased to be working on it, as her husband is a WWII historian. An active duty lieutenant who was getting his modern blues tailored commented on how nice this coat looks and said "I wish we wore those still instead of the McPeak blues." When the active military likes how good a reproduction is, you KNOW it's good.

Title: Authentic Reproduction

Comments: I'm a bit fussy when it comes to authenticity - but I truly feel that you will not find a better ready made tunic. It may well need fine tuning but it is a garment which has been well made - though a bit large (I'm a 38" and the 42" tunic drowns me). This should not in any way put you off of buying this excellent reproduction which arrived here in the UK just a few days after ordering. Please WPG make some smaller sizes!
