Comments: Factory boots damage on the order boots were sendt back for a change the exchange was fast shipped and this time got no damage. Boots are well made a little bit snug for a 10E should go for 10.5 But no avaiable. The heel is a bit too wide guess that with a belt sander it could be corrected.

Title: WORTH THE PRICE

Comments: Very nice Type2 service shoes . Leather souple without the awful paint seen on even high ends repros , Munson Last very accurate , quality half soles and heels well stiched and nailed (at the right accurate places and calibre) I usually wear a 10 /10.5 ordered 11 wich is perfect to let senough room to wear treck socks . Easy to break in . Just 2 ways to improve the shoes : the leather outsoles / heels protrude too far from the counter heels compared to originals (I own 2 pairs of 1942) and the strip with holes on the toe cap could be less large and holes more regularly. But it's details compared to other repros. BRAVO WPG ! shiped the 06/16 delivered on 06/20 : FAST !

Title: Solid affordable choice

Comments: These shoes feel good and mostly sturdy. Leather on the tongue is very thin, but other than that they feel solid and look great, especially for the price.

Title: Sturdy shoes

Comments: A substantial boot which looks great. Size seems accurate and the workmanship good considering the price point. The only issue I have is that the vamp is very tight for me (not usually an issue for me with commercial boots) and I had to stretch them to fit, Not sure if that reflects the cut of the originals or is the last being used.

Title: US Garrison Shoes

Comments: I ordered the size 15 E - none of the other vendors go beyond 14 and most are 13. 15 wide is my size and on receipt, the shoes fit perfectly. I noticed another review mentioned the Bataan memorial Death March and that's what I got these for - I wear the uniform of the New Mexico National Guard Coast Artillery who were at Bataan. I've been using look-alike chukka boots and so happy to have the correct repro's!!! I'm wearing them as I write this and will put a good 100 miles on them in preparation for the full walking Bataan marathon of 26.2 miles. As part of my job, I also monitor a WWII event on BLM-managed public land (March on Rome) and do so in period uniform so I don't impact the event with a modern agency uniform. So the garrison shoes will be used for that purpose too. Thanks so much for carrying size 15 E!!!

Title: Classic camper

Comments: Got my boots in short order. I would rate them a 5 except for one small issue. I'm not sure how these compare with the actual shoes of the period but they are a little rough on the inside. I added some supple leather at the heel to soften them a little. Overall they look great and I'm impressed the soles and stitching. I would buy them again.

Title: Ankle Boots

Comments: Ankle boots arrived today and look great. The leather feels a bit light but I don't have originals to compare them too. Having said this, they look good enough that I will be wearing these with my "civilian" clothing as well.

Title: US Garrison Shoes

Comments: Shipping and packing was perfect!!!! Fast delivery and good shipping rates. The quality of the shoes is poor. The leather is very thin and has some damage (from packing or handling, very small cuts!) Sorry for this bad feedback, but the quality of the product is not what I expected for US 135.00. Title: Amazing

Comments: I got my Garrison Shoes (Size US 7) and the AN-6530 Goggle today, thanks god, the size US 7 of this boots actually fits my feet perfectly (normally I wear the boots of size 8 or 8.5)! I'm so pleased and satisfied with your service and communication, the quality and the workmanship of this boots and Goggle, the AN-6530 is true to original, my German friends love it so much, so I'd like to recommend WPG to all my friends, who collect the WWII US Army (Air force) Equipments. Many thanks, Jerry, I'm looking forward to the next purchase of "WWII US Army Officer 4-Pocket-Tunic OD" and will be back in the not too distant future.

Title: US Garrison Shoes

Comments: These boots/shoes wear well and are comfortable. I've had mine for over a year and put over 100 miles on them in all weather except snow, including two 15 mile marches through the New Mexico desert as part of the Bataan Memorial Death March. Put a gel insole in them and you won't have any problem. If you plan do to serious walking in these like I do it's best to experiment with socks and insoles. My right foot is larger than my left and I found that a gel insole in the right shoe lifted my foot too much so the rear of my heel rubbed against the molded rear of the shoe, with painful results after 4-5 hours of walking. Moleskin under the heel and ball of the foot is also recommended. If you're simply standing around a thin insole and comfortable socks will work well.
